

Ready for Take-Off: uvex g.gl 3000 TOP

The uvex g.gl 3000 TOP with innovative interchangeable lens and polavision® technology ranks in the Champions League of take-off ski goggles. It combines two protection levels (S1/S3) in one goggle, provides reliable protection from distracting reflections, and what's more looks extremely cool too.

Blue skies and bright sunshine. A perfect day for skiing. And yet those clouds on the horizon mean the weather is turning. Good to know that skiers can be prepared for and react to all conditions and every situation. In one easy step, the uvex g.gl 3000 TOP's mirror sun protection lens detaches to be stashed away in a jacket pocket. Time for the clear base lens that guarantees first-rate vision in poor visibility.

Interchangeable lens technology

The uvex g.gl 3000 TOP transforms from fine-weather to bad-weather goggle in a matter of seconds and is still easy to handle when gloved up. This is made possible by uvex's interchangeable lens technology with mini magnets in the frame that ensure a firm grip and allow the take-off lens to be safely and securely fitted. In addition to 100% UVA, UVB and UVC protection, uvex supravision® anti-fog coating offers clear, fog-free vision at all times. Further comfort comes courtesy of uvex polavision® technology. It prevents disturbing reflections and glare, absorbing scattered light and protecting the eyes from strain. Moreover, the uvex g.gl 3000 TOP can also be worn over prescription eyewear.

RRP: 169.95 euros

About the uvex group

The uvex group brings together three international companies under one roof: the uvex safety group, the uvex sports group (uvex sports and ALPINA) and Filtral. The uvex group is represented in 22 countries by 48 subsidiaries but opts to locate most of its manufacturing in Germany. Two thirds of the company's 2,700-strong workforce (as of December 2019) are employed in Germany. As an outfitter for numerous top athletes, uvex acts as a global partner for international competitive sports. It views its mission statement of "protecting people" as its mandate and duty. To this end, uvex develops, manufactures and distributes products and services for the protection of people at work, sport and leisure.
